What is School Climate?

School climate is - “the way school culture affects a child’s sense of safety and acceptance, and consequently is a critical determinant of their ability to focus on the task of learning”

Why Measure School Climate?

Research suggests that:

• The quality of the school climate may be the single most predictive factor in any school’s capacity to promote student achievement;

• If we want achievement gains, we need to begin by improving the school climate.

New York State’s Plan to Promote School Climate

To promote, measure, and improve school climate, schools and school districts take the following steps:

a) Adopt a school climate framework (e.g., Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS), Social Emotional Learning (SEL), Restorative Practices, Trauma-Sensitive Practices);

b) Establish a Community Engagement Team;

c) Administer the USDE School Climate Surveys to students, parents, and school personnel;

d) Analyze Survey Results and other pertinent data (e.g. chronic absenteeism data, school violence index, suspension data) with the Community Engagement Team; and

e) Create an Action Plan with the Community Engagement Team to address areas of need.
Implementation of the USDE School Climate Surveys and School Climate Frameworks

Dr. Genelle Morris, Chief Accountability Officer/Chief Information Officer; and Ms. Ebony Bullock, Assistant Superintendent of School Effectiveness, Annual Professional Performance Review, & Data Driven Instruction, Buffalo Public Schools
School Climate Survey Pilot in Buffalo Public Schools

• One of six districts in the State that piloted the U.S. Department of Education (USDE) School Climate Surveys in 2016-17 to provide feedback to NYSED
• Spring 2017 administration of surveys using USDE platform
• 7,849 Students and 1,575 Staff from 50 schools participated in the survey, results by domain were generated after survey closed
• Survey results are used to identify areas of need, and drive resulting change in practice in schools
• Survey results used for building awareness with staff, action planning and decision-making, assessment of change over time, and team validation.
The USDE surveys summarize student survey results by subdomain and student gender, race/ethnicity, and grade.
Schools may compare the results of the USDE surveys across all subdomains, for all students, or for student subgroups.
How Are the Survey Results Used in Buffalo Public Schools?

• Schools conduct a "town hall" meeting with students and parents to share survey results and engage the whole school community in action planning around problem areas.

• Student leadership advisors use the data to inform student leadership projects around culture and climate improvements.

• If staff are reporting a negative climate among staff on the survey, school teams develop ways to ensure that teachers feel acknowledged and appreciated for their work.

• If students are reporting that they are feeling unsafe or bullied in a particular area of the building, school teams create an improved supervision plan for that area to include interventions aimed at improving safety.

• Using USDE school climate survey data is a component of the District’s MTSS:B (Multi-Tiered System of Supports for Behavior) work.

• It is also one of the data sources that the District Tier 1 team uses in the Data Driven Inquiry/ Improvement Cycle to develop district level supports and interventions for academic and behavior improvement across all schools.

Implicit Bias in Schools

Stanley Hansen
Assistant Commissioner
Office of Access, Equity, and Community Engagement Services
WHAT IS IMPLICIT BIAS?

The attitudes or stereotypes that affect our understanding, actions, and decisions in an unconscious manner

- May be favorable or unfavorable
- Involuntary and without an individual’s awareness or intentional control
- Cause feelings and attitudes about other people based on characteristics, such as race, ethnicity, age, and appearance
- These associations develop over the course of a lifetime

Source: The Kirwan Institute for the Study of Race and Ethnicity at The Ohio State University
Implicit Bias Findings

• We all have biases, but the impact of our biases on others depends on the roles we play in society
• Implicit bias is more prevalent than explicit bias because our minds are cognitive machines that encode and store many associations between groups and traits that we have not consciously processed
  – numbers, shapes, colors
  – In the U.S.: race, gender, and age
• Implicit bias is a stronger predictor of day-to-day behavior than explicit bias because much of our behavior/thoughts are automatic
• The potential impact of implicit bias on behavior can be over-ridden by conscious effort
Implicit Bias Among Early Educators

Study by Yale Child Study Center

- National sample of Black and White pre-school educators
- Watched videos of pre-school Black and White boys and girls
- Findings revealed that when told to expect disruptive behavior, White and Black teachers gazed longer at Black children, especially Black boys, than White children.
Social Emotional Learning (SEL)

Elizabeth Devaney
Director
Center for Social and Emotional Learning at the Children’s Institute, Rochester
What is Social Emotional Learning (SEL)?

SEL is a process through which children and adults gain and apply knowledge, attitudes, and skills to:

• Understand and manage emotions
• Set and achieve positive goals
• Feel and show empathy for others
• Establish and maintain positive relationships
• Make responsible decisions
“If a child doesn’t know how to read, we teach.
If a child doesn’t know how to swim, we teach.
If a child doesn’t know how to multiply, we teach.
If a child doesn’t know how to drive, we teach.
If a child doesn’t know how to behave, we ......teach? ......punish?

Why can’t we finish the last sentence as automatically as we do the others?”
Core Social and Emotional Competencies

- Self-Awareness: Recognizing one's emotions and values as well as one's strengths and challenges.
- Self-Management: Managing emotions and behaviors to achieve one's goals.
- Social Awareness: Showing understanding and empathy for others.
- Social & Emotional Learning: Forming positive relationships, working in teams, dealing effectively with conflict.
- Responsible Decision-Making: Making ethical, constructive choices about personal and social behavior.
- Relationship Skills: Forming positive relationships, working in teams, dealing effectively with conflict.
The research is clear...

SEL matters now

Students participating in SEL had

- 11 percentile-point gain in academic achievement compared to non-participants
- Statistically significant improvements in attitudes, positive social behavior, emotional distress, and conduct problems
The research is clear... SEL matters later

For every one-point increase on a child’s social competence score in kindergarten, he/she was:

• Twice as likely to attain a college degree in early adulthood
• 54% more likely to earn a high school diploma
• 46% more likely to have a full-time job at the age of 25

For every one-point decrease he/she had:

• 67% higher chance of having been arrested by early adulthood
• 82% higher rate of recent marijuana usage
• 82% higher chance of being in or on a waiting list for public housing
Teachers and schools are demanding SEL

- 46% of teachers report high daily stress
- When teachers are highly stressed, students show lower levels of social adjustment and academic performance.
- Between 23% and 42% of teachers leave the profession within 5 years
- Teachers trained in and implementing evidence-based SEL have less stress and anxiety, greater classroom quality, greater job satisfaction
- 93% of teachers believe teaching SEL is important
Employers are demanding SEL

• 50% of employers say they can’t fill vacancies because prospective employees lack communication, adaptability, decision-making, and problem-solving skills (Chronicle of Higher Education study)

• Lack of problem solving skills #1 skill deficiency among current employees (Manufacturing Institute Skills Gap study)

• Leadership and managerial skills ranked as the biggest skills gap between needs and potential employees (American Society for Training and Development)

Creating Trauma-Sensitive Schools

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and Childhood Trauma

• ACEs or Childhood Trauma are traumatic events that children experience. These traumas can be the result of intentional violence—such as physical, sexual abuse, or domestic violence—or the result of natural disaster, accidents, or war.

• Families living in urban poverty often encounter multiple traumas over many years. These families are less likely than families living in more affluent communities to have access to the resources that may facilitate the successful negotiation of traumatic experiences.

ACEs and Childhood Trauma have been Linked to:

• Risky health behaviors, chronic health conditions, low life potential, and early death.

• People with an ACE score of 4:
  • 400% increase in risk of diseases like emphysema or chronic bronchitis
  • 1200% increase in risk of attempting suicide

• People with an ACE score of 6 or more:
  • Average life expectancy is 20 years less than those who have experienced no trauma.
Children Who Live in Chronic Stress Are:

• In a state of fight, flight or freeze
• They respond to the world as a place of constant danger
• Stress hormone Cortisol is released when stressed
Requires us to reframe our thinking:

Instead of:

“What is wrong with you?”
ask yourself,
“What has happened to you?”
“In trauma-sensitive schools, teachers don’t punish a kid for ‘bad’ behavior — they don’t want to traumatize an already traumatized child. They dig deeper to help a child feel safe so that she or he can move out of stress mode, and learn again.”

Resolution in Recognition of the Service and Dedication of Stanley S. Hansen, Jr.

Stanley S. Hansen, Jr. will retire from his service as Assistant Commissioner for the Office of Access, Equity and Community Engagement Services at the end of November, 2017. Stan has served in a variety of positions with the Department since 1990. His work in the development and ongoing improvement of several State Opportunity Programs has given thousands of young people the critical support and guidance needed and allowed them to achieve a better life for themselves and their families. Most recently his work has made New York a leader as the first state to adopt the national My Brother’s Keeper Initiative, funded with $20 million to support young people throughout New York State. His work to develop and implement this major initiative will not only support thousands of students now, but many more over the years to come, and has garnered national attention as a model that other states will use in the future.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED on this 14th day of November 2017 that the Members of the New York State Board of Regents, acknowledge the service and dedication of Stanley S. Hansen, Jr. to the State Education Department and the people of the State of New York.
