Inspiring Mentoring and Community Engagement

What is MBK Digital Day of Action?

For over two years, communities, corporations and local officials across the country have united, organized and mobilized in response to President Obama's My Brother's Keeper call to action. Now, over 250 cities, counties and tribal nations have publicly committed to the work of addressing persistent opportunity gaps faced by boys and young men of color and ensuring that all young people can reach their full potential.

MY BROTHER'S KEEPER

On Wednesday, December 14, 2016, we are inviting all MBK communities and supporters to participate in a Digital Day of Action both to showcase the impact that you have made over these past two years and also to recruit more members of your communities to the work.

The Digital Day of Action is being organized in conjunction with the national White House MBK Summit, which will also take place on December 14 at the White House. The summit will celebrate the accomplishments of the MBK initiative, provide an opportunity for cross-sectorial collaboration, and outline the structure of the continued work of MBK after the Obama Administration. Although invitations to the summit are limited in number, the event will be live-streamed on whitehouse.gov.

In addition to the MBK Team, the Digital Day of Action's partners include the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) and MENTOR: The National Partnership for Mentoring.

CNCS is a federal agency that leads United We Serve, the President's Call to Service, and funds thousands of mentoring opportunities through AmeriCorps, Senior Corps, and the Social Innovation Fund.

For more than 25 years, MENTOR has served the mentoring field by providing a public voice; developing and delivering resources to mentoring programs nationwide; and promoting quality for mentoring through evidence-based standards, innovative research and essential tools.

Together, CNCS and MENTOR oversee Mentor.gov, which puts Americans in contact with mentoring opportunities across the country.

THE MENTORING EFFECT in real life

One in three young people are growing up without a mentor.

This is the mentoring gap in America.

This means that one-third of our nation's young people are growing up without a mentor to offer real life guidance. For young people who face a variety of risk factors that could lead them to become disconnected from school and work, the mentoring effect is linked to significant positive outcomes.

WITH A MENTOR, AT-RISK YOUTH ARE:

52% less likely than their peers to skip a day of school

55% more likely be enrolled in college

46% less likely than their peers to start using drugs

81% more likely to report participating regularly in sports or extracurricular activities

78%

more likely to volunteer regularly in their communities

130%

more than twice as likely to say that they held a leadership position in a club or sports team

90%

Respondents who had a mentor said they are now interested in becoming mentors
