Timeline for Implementation of Teaching Initiatives

• In 2009, the Board of Regents approved a number of initiatives to transform teaching and learning and school leadership in New York State. One of those initiatives was to strengthen the examinations for the certification of teachers and school leaders.

• Certification examination changes were included in New York’s successful Race to the Top application in 2010.

• In 2010, we began to develop our own performance assessment which was:
  o developed by New York institutions of higher education and P-12 educators
  o piloted in 2010 and field tested twice in 2011 (Spring and Fall)
  o participated in by over 500 candidates and 250 faculty o discussed at NYSATE-NYACTE (2010), CUNY Deans Meeting (2011), and SUNY Deans Meeting (2011)
  o fully aligned with the edTPA (New York used Stanford’s assessment as the model for our exam)

• In February 2012, the Board of Regents voted to push back the timeline to give higher education an additional year to May 2014 to prepare for the certification examinations.
Timeline for Implementation of Teaching Initiatives, cont’d

• In March 2012, the Board of Regents endorsed edTPA, developed in partnership by Stanford University and the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, as the NYS performance assessment.

• In April 2012, the Office of Higher Education announced the creation of a set of agreements with SUNY, CUNY and the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities to assist New York’s public higher education institutions with assimilating the new information on teaching and learning into their programs. Race to the Top funding was used to provide $10 million total to SUNY, CUNY, and the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities.

• In January 2013, the Education Reform Commission releases its preliminary report and recommended establishment of a “bar”-like exam for entry into the teaching and principal profession.

• In March 2013, the state budget is enacted with a provision requiring the creation of standards for a teacher and principal bar exam certification program.

• In November 2013, the Office of Higher Education offered the sectors an additional $1.5 million total to continue faculty professional development using Race to the Top funding.
Validation of our Certification Examinations

• Each of our teacher and leader certification examinations follows a design and development process that is consistent with the standards of:
  – American Psychological Association
  – National Council on Measurement in Education
  – American Educational Research Association

• Each certification examination has:
  – gone through the process of content validation, job relevance and construct validity
  – been field tested
  – involved K-12 and higher education representatives in the development and review
  – involved K-12 and higher education representatives in the standard setting process
